

Two Burglars Admit Crimes

Pair Is Picked Up Here Early Sunday

Two former state prison inmates, one of whom is still under parole, were picked up by the police in the city parking lot on North North Street at 3:30 A. M. Sunday, and have admitted two burglaries committed here recently.

Both signed confessions that they had burglarized the Sunshine Feed Store and the Dew Drop Inn, a few nights ago.

The men are David William Tubbs, 21, of 103 Ohio Avenue, and Charles Barton, 20, residing on the Lewis Road at "Logtown."

Both have served terms in the state reformatory on burglary charges. Police Chief Vaiden Long said, Barton is still on parole.

Two two were picked up by the night police while the officers were cruising about the city. They were locked up for investigation.

Sunday Chief Long questioned the two men, and after lengthy interrogation both wrote out confessions admitting they participated in the two burglaries.

Chief Long expected to question them further Monday, regarding other burglaries here recently.

A third youth who was picked up with the pair was released after investigation disclosed that he had not been involved in the burglaries with the other two.

Two coats, which had been stolen lie the wave of petty burglaries here will stop.

In searching the Tubbs home, two coats, which had been stolen from parked automobiles recently, were recovered.

Grange Members At State Meeting

At least nine Grange members from Fayette County—and there may be others—are to attend the state Grange convention being held in Cleveland this week. Most of the sessions are to be in the Hollenden Hotel in the heart of the city.

Mrs. Roscoe Smith, Mrs. Juanita Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rains and John Weade left here for Cleveland Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Chester James and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nisley also are to attend, but when they left is uncertain.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Roberts are members of Marshall Grange at Jeffersonville and Mr. and Mrs. Rains and Weade are members of the Good Hope Grange.

James is the county deputy of the Grange and Nisley is a past county deputy. This is the highest office on the county level.

$196 Million Hike Demanded In State's Appropriations

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche said today demands for increased appropriations in the next two years already total more than 196 million dollars.

Without giving his recommendations, the governor told newsmen that "these huge demands cannot be met without substantial increases in taxes which I will not approve."

The governor said he wanted to compare all demands with estimated tax revenues before outlining his legislative program.

He predicted a 10 million dollar treasury surplus at the end of the fiscal year. He said an additional 21 million surplus should accrue in the next two years if revenues held to their present levels.

He listed these demands for increased appropriations:

Seventy-five million for schools; 44 million for welfare operations and another 25 million for welfare improvements including 8½ million for prisons; 13 million for local government; 18.6 million for

San Diego, Calif., after spending 30 days leave here with Mrs. Sagar. She expects to join him there in about six weeks. He was accompanied to the west coast by another Washington C. H. sailor, Dean Burden, who is going to the naval air base at San Francisco, after a 30-day leave at his home here.

Frank Rader, 84 years old, 1013 South Hinde Street, was treated Saturday morning in Memorial Hospital for a fractured nose and left arm and later released. His injuries were the result of a fall at his home.

Otis Flora, 1131 Campbell Street, was admitted to Memorial Hospital, Saturday evening, for observation and treatment. He was released Monday morning and returned to his home, in the Parrett ambulance.

Mrs. John Sagar, nee Nancy Hewitt, has accepted the position of receptionist for Santa Rosa County Hospital, Milton, Florida. Mrs. Sagar and her husband, C-S3 John Sagar reside in Milton, and he is stationed at Whiting Field.

Hugh Dennis was released from Memorial Hospital and taken to his home near New Holland, Saturday in the Kirkpatrick ambulance, after being a patient for medical treatment.

Mrs. John Ours was returned from Chillicothe Hospital, to her home near New Holland, Friday afternoon in the Kirkpatrick ambulance. Her three pound six ounce daughter was admitted to Children's Hospital, Columbus, for observation and treatment.

farm programs; 15 million from the general fund for highways to obtain federal matching money; four million for the Public Employees Retirement Fund and $1,600,000 in state subsidies for pensions to police and firemen.

The governor has said repeatedly the only tax increases he will approve would be on highway trucks and motor vehicle fuel. He also has insisted on "plugging leaks" in the sales tax and the levy on permutual race track betting. He also has indicated a boost in liquor taxes might be considered.

The additional money for farm programs was urged for agricultural research and education.

The increases included $6,400,000 for Ohio State University's agricultural college, 6½ million for the veterinary college, $1,400,000 for operations at the Wooster Agricultural Experiment Station, $2,700,000 for additions at the station, $614,000 additional to modernize research work and educational facilities in developing agriculture and $920,000 more to operate the OSU's agriculture extension service.

Would-Be-Bride, 67, Changes Mind

DETROIT (AP)—Benjamin Krause, 84-year-old widower, took it philosophically today when he learned that Mrs. Esther Gant, 67, had decided at the last minute not to marry him on account of her children.

Krause, a retired butcher, has been married twice before and has seven sons and three daughters, 24 grandchildren and 30 great grandchildren. He already had obtained a marriage license when she changed her mind.

"I'll ask Mrs. Gant again," he said. "If she refuses, I'll find someone else."

clered, that a foldup of the WSB may result in protest strikes by unions if a way is not found to clear a logjam of pending wage agreements. There are about 12,000 such cases before the board, and Meany said he believed Truman could solve the situation by giving blanket approval of all of them.

One thing appeared certain: Unions which now have wage petitions before the WSB are not likely to take wage cuts lying down.

Meany said the AFL favors wage and price controls, but he thinks the situation is tending toward an end to both. And he said if price controls are lifted, wage controls must be suspended too.

CIO President Walter Reuther, whose union at its national convention last week voted a resolution to seek an end to wage controls, is expected in Washington this week to talk to Truman and Putnam about ending the curbs.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today will be asked to give a historic answer to the greatest social importance on this question: Should there be an end to separate schools for white and Negro children everywhere in the United States?

The South awaits the outcome gravely but not only Southern states are involved. Five cases of school segregation—in South Carolina, Virginia, Delaware, Kansas and the District of Columbia—will be laid in the court's lap.

Lawyers, some of the most distinguished, will argue on both sides before the nine justices. The court will give its decision some time in 1953. It could, as it has in the past on other kinds of segregation, avoid giving a flat, final and sweeping opinion.

At the heart of this struggle is the 14th Amendment, which says all citizens must be treated equally. Over half a century ago a railroad in Louisiana forced Negroes to ride in the back, or Jim Crow section, of its trains.

When protest was made to the Supreme Court on the grounds that this kind of separation, or segregation, of the Negroes violated the equal treatment clause of the 14th Amendment, the court gave a far-reaching opinion in 1896.

It said separate treatment for Negroes was not unconstitutional so long as they received equal treatment. This became known as the "separate but equal" doctrine. It left states everywhere free to pass segregation laws.

And no court in the 56 years since then has overturned that principle. In recent years the court has knocked out segregation on interstate buses and trains but only because, it ruled, the Negroes were not getting equal treatment.

And in 1950 the court said Texas and Oklahoma must let Negroes into their graduate schools but again only on the grounds that the Negro schools were not equal to those for Whites. The court did not say forcing the Negroes into separate schools was unconstitutional.

Now the court is being asked to say, once for all, that separation is unlawful, even when treatment is equal. The cases from Delaware, Kansas, Virginia and South Carolina all involve the 14th Amendment. The case from the District of Columbia is a little different although all five are being presented to the court in one bundle.

Reserve Officers Can Expect Call Soon

Columbus Day Fete Repeated For Youth, 9

BOSTON (AP)—East Boston put on its Columbus Day parade for a second time yesterday for the benefit of 9-year-old Skippy Romano.

Although Columbus Day was ago, the parade was no less spectacular.

There were 1,000 marchers, six bands and several National Guard units—almost as many participants as there were in the original parade.

The reason for the repeat performance was that Vincent Romano, whom everybody in the district knows as Skippy, couldn't get on to see the original. It was windy and raw and he was running temperature.

The people of the district were glad to put on the parade again because Skippy is suffering from muscular dystrophy, the disease that killed big league baseball player Lou Gehrig.

There was even a touch of Christmas in yesterday's parade and later, a party at a nearby schoolhouse at which Skippy was snowed under with gifts.

He got boxing gloves from former Lightweight Boxing Champion Lauro Salas and from Joey Cam, former New England lightweight titlist. He also got baseballs autographed by Red Sox and Chicago Cubs players and a football jacket and helmet from a local club.

Trailer Court Planning Stressed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Housing and Home Finance Agency said today properly planned trailer courts can provide good temporary housing without interfering with long-range, permanent development.

But the community is hurt, the agency said in pamphlet on standards for trailer courts, when under the stress of emergency courts are built "planlessly and without regard for community interests."

AFOTC men, to get their orders within four months after they are commissioned, will all be non-veterans or students not deferred for graduate study.

During the first year of operation, Galvin Wire Service activated nearly four million lines of type. Line No. 4,000,000 will be activated one day this week.

Watches Hidden In Lady's Corset

DOVER, Eng. (AP)—The long arm of British law reached out here yesterday and found 268 contraband watches under the corset of a lady from Paris.

British customs nabbed Rosalie Silder, 48, as she landed here en route to London from Paris. A woman inspector unwound the watches, worth more than $14,000, from a body belt under her corset.

A Dover magistrate sentenced the lady from Paris to one year in jail or a fine of 5,000 pounds ($14,000).

Effect of Government Debt On Public

Probably only a very limited number of people in Fayette County, or any other county, understand enough about government bonds to appreciate the situation they present with reference to our national debt maturities.

Most of us have never studied the effect these bonds, we are urged to buy at frequent intervals, have on the national economy and how they affect inflation. There are a lot of people who don't care to even try to understand about these bonds or how they, as private citizens, are themselves responsible for payment of these government obligations. Most people seem interested only in expecting that somehow the government is supposed to supply money in some mysterious way.

Just now it is beginning to dawn upon a lot of people, including students of the nation's fiscal situation, that what has been happening in the country for the last dozen or more years has created an inflation which will be extremely difficult to overcome.

The situation is based on the government's debt of $260 billions, the largest obligation ever assumed by any nation. If the average person does not think that meeting even the interest on this debt is not creating financial difficulties, he is much mistaken.

In the coming September $7,900,000,000 of two percent bonds must be met. The following year there will be $9,000,000,000 more to refinance. There will be more of the same as far into the future as anyone can peer.

The non-inflation method of meeting these maturing debts is to sell enough bonds to the public to raise the money to meet the maturities. That would take maturing bonds out of the banking system.

If the public fails to buy—and it hasn't shown sufficient inclination to do so in the recent past—the government again turns to the banks with more bonds, which are monetized through additional currency and credit. That increases both the money supply and inflationary pressures.

If inflation is to be halted the budget must be balanced and a surplus, however small, provided each year. On top of that it is imperative that new bonds be sold to the public to retire those falling due. That would stabilize or lower the debt, gradually take bonds out of the banks and halt the inflationary forces which feed on a multiplying money supply.

An ever larger money supply and an ever cheaper dollar are the alternatives. Corrosion and weakness in the domestic economy cannot provide strength to meet any foreign menace.

Coal Gas By Fire

Though it is too early to predict how soon or to what extent it will be available for commercial use, synthetic gas has been produced by scientists of the Bureau of Mines in cooperation with the Alabama Power Co. by burning coal underground as it lies in its natural seams.

In effect, experiments for six years in "mining by fire" have demonstrated that a gas can be made from thin and rocky seams that could not be worked profitably by ordinary methods. This gas, in turn, can be converted into gasoline, other fuels and synthetic chemicals.

This is just another and fascinating instance of the application of science, spurred on by the increasing demands of national defense and a growing population, to get a maximum utility out of every rational resource. Since June, 1951, only 1,500 tons of coal have been burned underground in these experiments, out of an estimated hundreds of millions of tons which are otherwise useless.

Conversion of this gasified coal into fuel and chemicals has to be made at the site of the experiments, because the gas cannot profitably be piped a long distance.

Are Korean Peace Hopes Too High?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's campaign bombshell—his promise to go to Korea if elected president—has been kept.

One of the most dramatic journeys of our generation is over. What will be the results?

The final fruits of his visit to the bitter Korean peninsula can be expected to mature slowly. The situation there is too complex to be solved by pulling a rabbit out of the hat, and Eisenhower has wisely warned he has no tricks up his sleeve to end the war.

The great danger of his voyage to see the facts at first-hand is public impatience, a letdown into disillusionment. The hopes of many rode with him, and the hopes of some were too high. There was even considerable hysteria in the minds of many mothers, who perhaps nursed a wild maternal dream that their sons might follow the general home on the next plane.

Eisenhower himself, of course, encouraged no such illusions. His own son is with a front-line division, and he has seen too much service to promise an easy solution to a problem that has baffled some of the best military leaders who helped him forge history in Europe in the last war.

The present Eighth Army commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, has a son missing in combat in Korea. The U. S. Army itself—the career soldiers—suffered a high rate of casualties, particularly in the first six months of the war.

The war has now dragged into its 30th month. What Gen. Ike wanted to do—and now has done—was to make a personal tour of the battle area, and get the picture of the stalemate there through his own eyes, unprejudiced by prior commitments to any single course of action.

It is unlikely any possible decisive measures he feels should be taken will become apparent immediately. In war things don't usually go that way. It requires time and planning to carry out any major decision.

Thus it seems highly probable that the war will go on for a while much as it has been for many months, barring the launching of a gigantic offensive by the million-man Chinese Red Army. The Korean landscape is forbidding enough in summer. In winter its frozen hills form even more terrible obstacles to widespread offensive operations.

But while Eisenhower's journey may immediately disappoint those who built their hopes too high, it already has had two heartening effects:

1. It has given the troops in Korea a tremendous morale lift.

2. It has brought "the forgotten war" into the hearts and minds of millions of Americans in a memorable way. For too long it has been a matter of personal concern only to the men who fought there, and their families and loved ones at home.

Collective Bargaining Theories

By George Sokolsky

The theory of collective bargaining is that the employer and representatives of the employees sit down to bargain over wages, hours, and other terms of employment until a meeting of the minds is reached. The "employer," in this sense, is the actual management of an enterprise; the "representatives of the workers" are labor union officials usually related to the particular enterprise or local labor union heads.

To many labor leaders, collective bargaining on this basis has been regarded as unsatisfactory because the local labor leaders are not considered capable of dealing with great matters; further, the trend in labor organizations has been, however possible, to deal with questions on an industry-wide basis rather than with particular enterprises.

The professionalization of labor union management has progressed since the NRA days, so that the local business manager of the union or a leader who has come up from the ranks is now being replaced or surrounded by men whose business in life is to work in labor unions and who regard such work as a profession. They approach labor problems not from the standpoint of the worker employed in a particular enterprise in a particular locality, but from the standpoint of over-all labor strategy in the effort to obtain a larger share of the economy for the worker.

The NRA was a device to abolish collective bargaining by substituting a government agency as a determining arbiter between a union and a trade association. After the NRA was declared unconstitutional the policy of the administration was not to revert to collective bargaining but to find another device by which government would remain as the controlling factor in labor relations. The Wagner Act was passed, and the National Labor Relations Board was established.

The government, under this Board, became a strong factor in labor settlements. During the war, the Wage Board and a few other agencies of government assumed final powers in reference to wages, hours and working conditions. Some unions, such as John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers, resisted the government's policy of a Fascistic control over work.

The power of the government to seize plants, exercised 71 times during the Roosevelt and Truman regimes, gave the administration a weapon which eliminated collective bargaining, because precisely how can anyone bargain with the political power of the state?

As a matter of fact, the only industrialist who effectively challenged this power was Sevelly Avery of Montgomery Ward and the only labor leader has been John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers. Generally, the administration has had its way in labor matters.

It can be said correctly that the CIO has been a dominant element in the formulation of labor policies in the Truman administration, but that is because Mr. Truman preferred it that way. The point is that the govern-

Different Methods For Treating Warts

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Just about everyone has his own favorite "wart cure." There is probably no disease with more suspected cures and household remedies, most of which don't work. Probably few people could tell you that most warts are caused by a virus infection.

The cure of the common wart is sometimes very easy, and sometimes highly difficult. Many times these growths disappear by themselves. In other cases, all types of treatment fail to help.

Occur Many Places

Warts can be transmitted from one person to another, though it is unknown why some people contract them from others and some do not.

Any part of the skin and lips can produce a wart, the most frequent spot being on the hand. The sole of the foot and the face are other very common locations.

Warts can be painful on the sole of the foot, for they are easily irritated. Some doctors believe that warts

Ohio Lad Wins Prize, Decides College Is OK

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(AP)—An Ohio boy has had a quick change of heart on his decision to pass up a college education, all because he is a champion sheep shearer.

George R. Welsh, 19, of Richmond (Union County), had decided college was not for him.

But Friday he clipped his way to a new national 4-H sheep shearing contest record. It brought him a $300 college scholarship. He announced after his victory:

"I think now I might go to Ohio State if the Army doesn't take me right away."

He is due to take a physical examination in January.

Young Welsh set two new records for 4-H competition—96.1 points of a possible 100 for speed and quality of workmanship and three minutes and four seconds required to shear one of the three sheep he clipped.

Said his father, Watt L. Welsh, 56, a professional sheep shearing expert who was eliminated in the finals this year: "I'd rather see the boy win than myself."

Ohio Executions Being Delayed

COLUMBUS, Dec. 8.—(AP)—There will be no further electrocutions in Ohio Penitentiary this year, largely because of the unrest which persists in the wake of the Halloween fire riot.

All three men now in the "death row" of the prison have been granted postponements. Gov. Frank J. Lausche says the reasons for the delays are the same:

1. Unrest at the institution.

2. Investigations regarding the offenders' pleas for executive clemency were not completed.

Ghost of Wookey Hole Eludes Mortal Sleuths

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK (AP)—Many people would run, if they thought they were going to see a ghost. But Olive Hodgkinson spent years trying to meet one.
Mrs. Hodgkinson is the wife of the squire of Wookey Hole Village, Somerset, England.
Like many another English landed estate, it has its legend of a ghost. It also has the famous Wookey Hole Cave, 500 feet below the Mendip Hills, with caverns, grottoes, colored rock formations and mysterious underground river. Archaeologists are interested in a cave as home of primitive man and beast, and in the human and animal bones, coins and pottery unearthed there.
But the villagers are more intrigued by the 1200-year-old legend of the evil witch of Wookey Hole, now tied to the legend of a modern ghost, with a good spine-chilling sequence of events.
Mrs. Hodgkinson told about them during a visit here.

"ACCORDING TO THE old legend the Witch of Wookey lived in the cave with her goats and cast evil spells on the villagers. They became so terrified, they asked a Glastonbury monk to help them and he turned the witch to stone inside the cave. In the first chamber of the cave there is now a strange stalagmite formation known as the witch. Dogs and cats refuse to pass it."

"Early maps of Somerset had shown the cave as a mound with a woman outside holding a gazing crystal. In 1912, when H. E. Balch, an archeologist and curator of the Wells Museum in Somerset was excavating in the cave, he found the bones of a woman beside a dagger, a knife and a stalagmite crystal ball. Nearby were the bones of goats. This naturally revived the legend of the witch."

"FIVE YEARS AGO, after an old cottager died, after having lived in one cottage 60 years, Mrs. Hodgkinson says people began to report they had seen the ghostly figure of a woman moving in the house. One day the child of people who rented the cottage ran to his mother, asking 'Who is the old woman on the stairs?' His mother looked and told her later that she saw the shadowy figure of an old woman. The family moved out."

"Tenants who followed them had a little girl, who knew nothing about what had happened. Soon she was running to her mother saying, 'I didn't know an old lady would be visiting this house all the time.' They moved out too."

"Then came a young man, who managed a restaurant near the caves, and his wife. The next thing I knew, she was saying that a woman's ghost stood at the foot of her bed one night, shook the bed and put a hand on her foot. She said it didn't frighten her, but she and her husband left at the end of the season."

MRS. HODGKINSON says that, after that, a long procession of tenants rented the cottage and left it. Thirty-odd people told her they had heard strange noises in it. Twenty said they saw the ghost and a number reported that, at times, the house was saturated with an exceedingly evil odor and they found objects strewn about in a way they could not account for.
"People began to say it must be the ghost of the witch, up to her old evil tricks," said the squire's wife. "I decided to spend a night there myself with an investigator of the Institute of Psychological Research of Great Britain. We took two of our house cats with us. One slept but the other never closed his eyes.

"About five in the morning, I thought I heard a strange sound. The sleeping cat sprang from its chair in terror and tried to leap out of the window. The cat that had remained awake bolted up the stairs—and I followed it and investigated thoroughly. But I saw nothing out of the way. By that time, it was about daylight, so the investigator and I went home for breakfast."

MRS. HODGKINSON had no sooner arrived home than she remembered she had left her pillows and blankets in the cottage, so she sent a servant for them. The woman came running back a few minutes later, saying the cottage was filled with an unbearably evil odor. Back went Mrs. Hodgkinson.

"The odor was there—incredibly terrible," she reports. "And that was not all. The bed I had slept in had been overturned. The lamp that stood beside it was lying broken on the floor, yards away. Vases of flowers were overturned and china ornaments were lying broken on the floor."
"We have now turned the cottage over to the Institute of Psychological Research for investigation. But I haven't yet seen the ghost."

Defense Tightens A-Energy Rulings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department's public information office will be the sole military releasing agency for information on atomic energy, guided missiles and new weapons, under a directive by Defense Secretary Lovett.

A spokesman said the directive, issued yesterday, puts in writing practices previously followed but not set out in detail.

The order provides that a writer must get approval from the information office before visiting military bases to get his data. Only unclassified information will be given him, and the material to be published must be submitted to the department's security review branch before publication.

Public Mood Shifts on Problems

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—Several violently controversial issues may disappear from the American political scene with the next few years, as completely as the question of Prohibition. They will disappear because recent studies show that they have more superficial than real importance, and partially because the public mood has shifted on these problems.

In the order of their impact on the politics of the last 20 years, they involve such matters as fair employment practices, labor-management relations and expansion of public versus private power. It is not accidental that Roosevelt-Truman concentration on these three issues contributed to the Democratic triumphs in five successive presidential elections.

It was that party's advocacy of FEPC, its opposition to the Taft-Hartley Act and its support of government power which, until last Nov. 4, won millions of votes among such elements as racial minorities, organized labor and so-called "liberal" believers in centralized, federal control. And it was these very voting groups which, again until Nov. 4, rolled up decisive majorities for the Democrats in the great centers of population.

MUCH ADO—Ironically, it is an official report on military, industrial and civilian manpower by the National Security Resources Board which suggests that all the political excitement over FEPC has been much ado about nothing.

At the request of Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, a civil rights advocate, NSRB investigated to ascertain whether FEPC legislation contributed to all-out use of available manpower. That was the purpose of the inquiry.

The experts discovered that 11 states and 25 cities have fair employment statutes of one kind or another. Few have any coercive or police action features; they simply provide an agency to which alleged victims of discrimination for race, creed or color may submit their complaints. The officials then investigate the merits of the protest, and discuss them with the employers.

FEW DESIST — The survey showed that since 1945 there have been only 1,900 complaints of alleged discrimination in these 26 official agencies, city and state. In slightly more than half of these cases was any evidence of injustice found, and they were settled through negotiation and conciliation. In only six instances did desisting orders have to be issued. Nobody has been imprisoned for violation.

In New York City, which has been a hotbed of political oratory and excitement over this issue, the number of complaints by minority groups and individuals fell from 999 to a handful within a year after enactment of the law. The effect was similar in New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Employers have made no attempt to evade the law, finding that it increased their labor pool in times of shortages. They usually abandoned any offending practices by their hiring offices after the practice was called to their attention by conciliators.

Although NSRB drew no conclusions, the findings suggest that, as President-elect Eisenhower believes, the problem can be handled successfully on a local or state level. Indeed, it might have vanished with the end of World War II had it not been for its vote-getting value.

IKE'S FAIRNESS — Although the big unions may go through the motions of opposing Taft-Hartley amendment, the leaders have become reconciled to changes designed to make it more workable and less lopsided. They believe that Eisenhower will be "fair" in seeking revision.

They are especially heartened by his opposition to any prohibition against industry-wide bargaining. In fact, it has been their fear of this threat which led them to demand outright repeal instead of reopening of the existing statute.

Martin P. Durkin, the new secretary of labor, has said that he favors the Eisenhower plan. And Durkin is a close friend to George Meany, the new AFL head.

PRIVATE INDUSTRY—The issue of public versus private power

Millions will not have Acid Indigestion Today

Why? Because they always keep Tums handy—for record-fast relief of gas, heartburn, sour stomach. Almost instantly, Tums neutralize excess acid. Yet contain no soda to over-alkalize or cause acid rebound. One or two Tums, eaten like candy, stops stomach distress almost before it starts. Do as millions do—carry Tums always. TUMS er seems to be losing its spell, politically and economically. The Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, CIO, has condemned government expansion in formal resolutions. The unions say they get a better deal from private industry than from Uncle Sam.

STOMACH DISTRESS

The farmers rebelled on this question in the First Kansas Congressional District on Nov. 4. Because he voted for a public power dam that will overflow 55,000 acres of fine farming land, Representative Albert M. Cole, a four-term, was defeated by Howard S. Miller, a political newcomer, by 4,600 votes. In other areas the farmers have protested against being flooded out by Uncle Sam.

Surveys by the private utilities indicate the growth of an anti-public power sentiment on a nationwide scale. People fear that the loss of taxes boosts their own contribution more than they gain through so-called "cheap power."

Since the cost per kilowatt hour has fallen only seven-tenths of a penny, according to some surveys, from 1935 to 1952, the famous "yardstick" theory for lowering prices apparently has not operated as promised by Roosevelt, Ickes and their successors.

REMOTE CONTROL VALVE SYSTEMS are an important development in the safety and efficiency of natural gas pipeline operation. At one of Texas Eastern's compressor stations, an operator shows how he can close main valves throughout the station simply by pulling the handle of a small control valve. At each Texas Eastern compressor station, main valves can be operated by remote control from a central point.

GIANT VALVES are closed by remote control in just a few minutes. Before these installations, two men sometimes labored for as long as 30 minutes to close one valve.

THESE PRESSURE RELIEF VALVES provide automatic pipeline protection. By keeping pipeline pressures within established limits, they safeguard the flow of natural gas.

REMOTE CONTROL VALVES USED TO PROTECT THE FLOW OF NATURAL GAS THROUGH FAYETTE COUNTY

Newly-installed remote control valves protect Texas Eastern's customers against interruptions in the vital flow of natural gas to homes and industry.

To protect consumers from curtailments of natural gas delivery, a system for remote control of valves has been installed at each Texas Eastern compressor station. By simply turning a lever, a man can open and close valves larger than himself to divert gas through secondary lines without interruption of gas flow.

The giant valves, powered by the new remote control system, operate with split-second timing. Before the introduction of automatic valve systems, closing a single pipeline valve sometimes required the work of two men for a period of thirty minutes or more. Now, one man can operate as many as six valves in five minutes.

In addition, sensitive automatic relief valves keep pressures in the pipelines within the safety range determined by engineers.

These advances in both safety and efficiency in pipeline operation are part of Texas Eastern's continuing program to keep its natural gas transmission system one of the most progressive and dependable in the nation.

Will Be Dec. 14 Bride

Miss Lois Jean Cherryholmes

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Cherryholmes of the Old Springfield Road announces the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Lois Jean to Mr. Dwight Irvin Duff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Duff of the Waterloo Road.

The marriage vows will be read in Grace Methodist Church, Sunday, December 14 in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Washington C. H. High School in the class of 1950 and is a member of the office force of the Fayette County Agricultural Extension Service. The prospective bride-groom who also graduated from Washington C. H. High School in the class of 1948 is associated with his father in farming.

Joanne Taylor A Bride-To-Be Is Complimented

Miss Joanne Taylor, bride-elect of Mr. Robert Bennett, was the guest of honor Friday evening when Mrs. Donald Moore entertained at a personal shower at her home.

Bridge and canasta games made pleasant diversion during the evening and awards went to Mrs. Emerson Marting, who was the holder of high score in bridge, and in canasta Mrs. William Kearney and Miss Taylor received the trophies.

Those receiving awards presented them to the bride-elect, who opened her lovely shower gifts at the dining table over which a green and yellow umbrella was suspended.

Later a salad course was served and a color scheme of green and yellow was carried out on small tables centered with arrangements of yellow mums.

Mrs. Moore was assisted in the serving by Mrs. Willis Chrisman.

Guests included were Mrs. Willis Chrisman, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Emerson Marting, Mrs. Eddie Kirk, Mrs. Cline Deere, Mrs. William Kearney, all of this city, Mrs. Don Taylor, Mrs. Glenn Taylor, Mrs. Helen Louise Wilken of Greenfield, Mrs. William McCoy, Mrs. James Bennett of Wilmington, and Mrs. Charles Peterson of Frankfort.

Wild potatoes have been found in Chile and Peru, but they were cultivated by the Indians before the arrival of the Spaniards.

Camp Fire Girls Plan Yule Events

The Cante-O-Oze Group of Campfire Girls met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee with the co-leader, Mrs. Eugene Smith assisting and the girls finished Christmas gifts for their mothers.

They also wrapped a gift for a needy family, and made plans for the Christmas party, December 19 when they will exchange gifts, go caroling and present gifts to a Rest Home in this city.

Church Society Holds Annual Tea

The annual Christmas tea of Woman's Missionary Society of the Church of Christ was held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sherman Belles.

Christmas decorations prevailed throughout the rooms and the program in charge of Mrs. Bernice Duckwall, under the topic of "Summary of Human Rights" assisted by Mrs. Carson Maddox and Mrs. Homer Flint, Mrs. Carl Meriwether and Mrs. Belles.

The program opened with a vocal solo "O Holy Night," by Miss Verna Williams accompanied by Miss Margaret Gibson, readings by the four members assisting on the program and closed with prayer.

The tea table covered with a lace cloth was centered with a miniature

Christmas tree, and the silver service was presided over by Mrs. Mac Dews, Sr.

Mrs. Belles was assisted in the hospitalities by Mrs. Chan Hyer and Mrs. Mac Dews, Sr.

Mail service is believed to have been first started in the Persiat empire as an aid to maintaining government control over wide territories.

Two WHS Lions Are Picked For Annual All-Star Game

Two of the undefeated 1952 WHS Lions football squad will be playing on the South team in the annual all-star all-senior North-South classic at Canton next Aug. 4.

They are Carl Smith, driving 190-pound WHS left halfback, and Dick Waters, a fast-charging, slashing guard, who captained the Lions through their spectacular season and played brilliantly on both offense and defense.

When the All-Ohio high school teams were selected by sports writers, officials and coaches a week ago, Smith was named on the first team and Waters was picked for the second team.

Football scouts from colleges all over the country will be watching those boys in the game. They undoubtedly will come prepared to sing the praises of the schools they represent in an effort to sign up those outstanding high school grid-ders.

The two Washington C. H. boys—along with their teammates—already have been fêted at many a college game this fall. They have had many propositions, too, but up to now none has given any indication of having reached a decision on college entrance. Last week Smith was a guest at the University of Florida to see the Gators trounce the University of Kentucky. He made the trip by plane.

WHEN THE TWO Washington C. H. boys go to Canton for the all-star North-South game they will be among some of the best high school grid-ders in the state's history picked for the two teams.

Charles (Chuck) Mather of Massillon will coach the Northerners, and Jim McDonald of Springfield will handle the Rebels. The two mentors, who won 10 straight games each this fall, will have plenty of talent with which to make their T-offense-function.

The board of directors of the Ohio High School Coaches Association met here over the weekend to name the head coaches and the All-Stars. The Southerners selected 25 players, 20 from the top three teams of the Associated Press All-Ohio, while the Northerners picked 23, of whom 21 were on the AP All-Star outfit. Canton, as the host city, is permitted to name two players to round out the Northern squad.

Three Class B luminaries were named by the South.

THEY ARE Hubert Bobo of Chauncey - Dover, state scoring leader the last two years with totals of 274 and 323; Bob Ashley, scintillating end for Middleport, and Leroy Whitaker, outstanding guard for Lockland.

The selections were made from ballots cast by all members of the coaches association. For the coaching job, McDonald was victorious over Ralph Webster of Columbus East, Glenn Ellison of Middletown, Paul Keltner of Cambridge, Ray Hoyman of Steubenville and Harold Roettger of Lockland.

Mather won over Gil Smith of Van Wert, Jeff Dehaven of Sandusky, Mike Krino of Akron East, Wade Watts of East Liverpool and Mel Mackey of Fremont.

The two chiefs will name three assistants each. One on each staff must be from a Class B school.

The South has won the last two All-Star games, and they'll go into the 1953 contest armed with the greatest scoring threats in Buck-eye history.

Alongside Bobo at halfback will be Carl Smith of Washington C. H. who topped the Class A scorers with 294 points, and at fullback will be Lee Williams of Springfield. The three made up three-fourths of the All-Ohio offensive first team backfield picked by the Associated Press.

Len Dawson of Alliance was named signal-caller for the Northerners, with Bob Lillenthal of Cambridge getting the call from the South.

Here are the selections:

Tough Game Is Faced By WHS Cagers with Xenia Here on Tuesday

The Lion cagers of WHS will be gunning for their fourth straight victory without a defeat when they take the floor here Tuesday night against Xenia's Buccaneers.

With a regular Saturday layoff, the Varsity squad will have had only one practice session since they knocked off the Bexley Lions, 58 to 44, last Friday night, to get ready for the Xenia outfit.

Coach Harry Townsend was not exactly optimistic over the coming game, although he did say the Lions looked better in the game at Bexley than they did in either of the two previous tilts, which they won by margins of a single point—New Holland 58 to 57 and at Grandview, 55 to 54.

The Buccaneers' easy 57 to 26 victory over Wilmington's Hurricane last Friday night has convinced Coach Townsend that the Lions will have their hands full when the Xenians come here Tuesday night.

"Xenia's got a scoring team," he said and made no attempt to conceal his concern.

He said the decision on whether to try to bottle up the Buccaneer point-makers or to "try to outscore them" would not be made until after Monday afternoon's practice.

And, on that decision will rest the selection of the starting team. Coach Townsend said Wayne Van Meter, Bob Alkire and Jack Rettig were virtually certain to be on the floor for the first center jump. Depending on the strategy decided on, the other two starters will be picked from among Glen Milstead, Roger Whitley, Dick Tracey, Claude Smith and Dave Crone.

MONDAY AFTERNOON'S work out was to be devoted to developing maneuvers designed to check the Xenia offense and to penetrate the defense. They will be based on a study of the charts of the Buccaneer play brought back by Fred Jacoby, who has scouted them in a couple of games.

For the first time this season, the Lions are expecting to run up against a tight man-to-man defense. While that is the type of defense WHS has employed, the opponents in the first three games have used a zone defense.

In view of that, Coach Townsend said the WHS offense would have to be revised to cope with it. And, he pointed out, "we have only one practice to get the job done."

When the Varsity leaves the floor and the Juniors have finished their workout, the Reserve squad is to move in Monday night to prepare for its game with the Xenia Reserves. That tilt, as has been the custom, will be the preliminary to the Varsity mele.

The Reserves, under Coach Curt Koons, won their first game from the New Holland Reserves, but dropped the next two to Grandview and Bexley.

Indications were that Coach Koons would make few changes, if any, in the starting lineup. WHS fans who saw the Reserves swamped at Bexley were not discouraged; they said the Bexley Reserves were just an outstanding aggregation and

Bloomington Loses Game in Last Period

Bloomington High School's basketball team lost its game Saturday night to a strong outfit at Twin Township in Ross County, 68 to 57.

This was the third loss of the season for the Bulldogs who have won five games.

Bulldog coach, Frank Truitt, said he wasn't discouraged over the loss Saturday night because Twin Township was one of the best teams Bloomington has played all season. The Weaver brothers played their best all season, he added. Together they scored more than half of Bloomington's points.

Dan had a total of 20 points on eight field goals and four foul shots, while Robert made five field goals and seven foul shots for a total of 17 points.

Truitt said the trend of the ball game turned when both fouled out. The game was tied 46 to 46 at the end of the third quarter when Dan went out with a total of 20 points.

At the beginning of the fourth period, Robert fouled out, and Twin Township pulled ahead.

The Bloomington Reserve team did better than the Varsity as it won in the preliminary, 59 to 34.

Two County Teams Play Tuesday Night

Only two Fayette County teams will be in action Tuesday night, both against non-league opponents and neither on its home court.

The Good Hope basketball team will go to New Holland to play, while Madison Mills will be playing at South Solon.

Good Hope will be fighting for its fifth win of the season against only three setbacks, while the Mills will be after their second victory of the season. The Mills have dropped seven games.

Friday night's schedule will have Bloomington playing at Jeffersonville in a county league tussle, Madison Mills at Port William in a non-league game and the New Holland team will be playing in a Pickaway County League game at Jackson Township.

The only game slated for Saturday night is when Good Hope will be host to Marshall.

First Federal Has Birthday

Many Changes Made During 30 Years

The 30th birthday anniversary was being observed by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association here Tuesday with hardly a ripple on the surface of the regular daily routine of business.

The financial institution, which now has assets amounting to around $2,500,000, was founded in 1922 and chartered by the state on Dec. 8 of that year.

David S. Craig was the first president; C. P. Ballard, the vice president and Glenn M. Pine, the secretary, who was in charge of the office. Other directors when the association was established were Ben Jamison, George H. Hitchcock, John E. Sheppard, Rell G. Allen, Glenn B. Rodgers and George A. Robinson.

Two of the original directors are still on the board. They are Sheppard and Allen. Two others still live here, but are no longer officially connected with the institution. They are Rodgers and Robinson. Ballard now lives in Columbus. Death has claimed the other four.

MANY CHANGES have taken place during the two decades since the institution was organized. Walter Rettig, the present executive vice president and secretary, said after going over the minutes of the directors' meetings.

Since he took over his present position eight years ago, he said, real estate values have increased as much as 75 percent—sometimes even more. Homes which then were valued at $5,000 to $6,000 (the price of the average residence) are now valued at $7,000 to $8,000, he said.

Records show that during the first year of business in 1923 (the first year was primarily one of organization) only 78 loans were made. Last year, Rettig said, 143 loans totalling around $556,000 were made.

He explained that loans range all the way from new home construction to small repair jobs and remodeling. They are based on 75 percent of the appraised value for straight loans, but can go up to 80 percent on Federal Housing Administration approved projects.

RETTIG WENT BACK over the records to get figures for comparison and found that 2,712 loans had been made to home owners since 1930.

Originally, the institution was called the First Building & Loan Association, but in 1938, the charter was revised and the name changed to the present First Federal Savings & Loan Association. The changes were made when the old association became a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati and came under the federal deposit insurance provisions provided through it.

Leonard Korn, at one time a secretary of the association, is the present president of the association. Allen is the vice president and Rettig the executive vice president and secretary.

Other members of the board of directors now are Robert Meriweather, Glenn H. Woodmansee, A. H. Finley, Hoy O. Simons, Ormond Dewey and Sheppard.

Miss Mary Frances Snider is the assistant secretary and Mrs. Doris Hopewell, the clerk-teller.

Mrs. Coral Meier Funeral Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Coral Meier, who died Saturday morning in University Hospital in Columbus, are to be held at 2 P. M. Tuesday at the Gerstner Funeral Home, with Rev. Harold J. Braden officiating.

Interment is to be in the family lot in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Mrs. Meier, the widow of Frederick (Fritz) Meier and a lifelong resident of the community, was well known here where she was active in so many things for so many years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, the Pythian Sisters lodge and the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was connected with the Division of Aid for the Aged office here for several years also.

She is survived by a son, Albert Meier of Columbus, and a daughter, Mrs. Christine Zorn of Bristol, Va. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Willis Lansinger here and Mrs. Dixie Jones of Columbus.

Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

County Courts

The damage action of Leonard Dalton against Thomas Loudner, which was to have been heard before Judge James F. Bell and a jury, Monday, was continued until a later date.

The jury reported for duty and was dismissed for the remainder of the present term of court.

Fellowship Plans For 'Calling Brigade'

Plans to have a "calling brigade" were made at the Sunday evening meeting of the Baptist Junior Youth Fellowship at the church.

To get new members will be the main purpose of the brigade. It will start in January.

Judy Preston, president, presided over the meeting which was opened with the singing of Christmas carols. All of the usual reports were given.

Fay Linthum was in charge of the program. She discussed an article on "Throwing Away The Bible."

Larry Hurt read the Scripture and Judy Gilley led in prayer.

It was announced that a youth rally will be held next Sunday at Chillicothe and all members here are invited to attend.

After a recreation period the meeting was closed with the friendship circle. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hurt are the advisors.

Present at the meeting were Nancy Hurt, Judy Preston, Susan Wissler, Fay Linthum, Judy Gilley, Jean Lininger, Sharon Grubbs, Dixie Coe, Ninette Edgington, Larry Bennett, Larry Hurt, Nancy Reno, Gary Arnold, Larry Milstead, Rebecca Graves and Bobby Edgington.

BURNS TO DEATH

WILMINGTON — Foster Stephens, 79, was fatally burned in his cottage at Port William. He was dragged from his burning home by neighbors and lived only a short time. Starting a fire with kerosene was held responsible for his death.

TOYS WANTED

For YBM Santa

Many Brought In But More Needed

Although nearly a truck load of toys were given to the Young Business Men's group for distribution at Christmas to youngsters of less fortunate families, still more are needed, Robert Wise, a member of the committee said Monday.

The first announcement of the YBM plans to give toys to youngsters was made following last Monday night's meeting when plans for the distribution were completed.

In the first week after that, Wise said, the response was "very good," but he added "still more are needed... we'd like to have two or three times that many... they could be put to very good use."

Wise said all toys in good repair would be put in Santa's sack for this Christmas and any that needed painting or repairs will be kept for next Christmas—and be put in good shape in the meanwhile.

Co-chairmen for the Christmas project are Walter Coil and J. O. Garring. Anyone who has toys that have been outgrown by their original owners but still could brighten the Christmas for some other boy or girl may call either of the co-chairmen and they will be picked up. Or, they could be left at Coil's shop at the corner of Fayette and Market Streets, Wise said.

Robert Green is president of the YBM.

Committal Service Held For Baby Girl

Committal services were held at 2 P. M. Monday at Washington C. H. Cemetery for Sue Ellen Smith, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Smith, 524 High Street.

She died at Memorial Hospital at 11:15 P. M. Saturday, 15 hours after she was born.

Rev. Francis T. McCarty, pastor of the First Baptist Church, conducted the services. The interment was under the direction of the Gerstner Funeral Home.

Besides her parents, she leaves two grandmothers, Mrs. Mary Wackman of near Bloomingburg, and Mrs. Jerry Smith of the Jeffersonville Road.

Washington Organ Club Gives Program

The Washington Organ Club presented an hour of advent music at Grace Methodist Church Sunday, starting at 3 P. M., which was enjoyed by a small but appreciative audience.

A number of persons participated in the program each adding materially to the general enjoyment of the advent music.

Those participating and the numbers played on the organ were:

Miss Ann Hise, Bach's "Praeludium und Fugue in G dur."

Karl J. Kay, an old English carol, "What Child Is This" and Titcomb's "Puer Natur Est" (A Boy is Born).

Mrs. Althea Case, "Divinum Mysterium (Of the Father's Love Begotten)," by Richard Purvis.

Clarence Barger, choral prelude, "Come Thou Expected Jesus," by Matthews; choral prelude on "O Come Emmanuel," by Kenneth Walton; postlude on "Lo, He Comes With Clouds Descending," Walton, and "L'Adoration Mystique," Beethoven.

Miss Martha Hudson sang "How Beautiful Upon The Mountain," by Harker, and "Sleep My Jesus," Bartlett, with Miss Marian Christopher at the organ.

Dog Licenses

licensed dogs has been suggested but has not as yet started.

AT THEIR MONDAY morning session another matter to come before the county commissioners was a request from County Agent W. W. Montgomery for a meeting to determine what steps shall be taken to complete the cattle tuberculosis testing in this county.

These tests were started early this year and are said to have been nearly completed.

It is now considered desirable that the county be given proper credit for the tests and for the fact that very few tubercular animals were found; also to make a complete survey of what has been accomplished and to learn what, if any, further plans should be made.

A representative of the Ohio Division of Animal Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is to be present with the county commissioners, the county agricultural agent and veterinarians of the county who may be asked to take part in the meeting which probably will be held within the next two weeks.
